SPECIAL INQUIRY

Synopsis:

JOHN JAMES CAULFIELD attended what was then Wake Forest College in Wake County, N. C. He attended the 1947-48 and 1948-49 school years, taking general courses and had an overall grade average of .5649, which was approximately a "D-". MARK REECE, Dean of Men, advised his files contained nothing derogatory; however, he attended Wake Forest College at approximately the same time as the applicant and vaguely remembered him and did not remember his being in any trouble. Credit and identification at Raleigh and Wake Forest, N. C., negative concerning CAULFIELD.

- RUC -

DETAILS:EDUCATION

✓ On April 14, 1969, GRADY PATTERSON, Registrar, Wake Forest University, advised the applicant, JOHN JAMES CAULFIELD, listed his home address as 2550 Bainbridge Avenue, Bronx, New York, when he entered Wake Forest College on September 10, 1947. PATTERSON continued that the school was then located in Wake County, North Carolina, and the applicant listed his parent as Mrs. J. C. CAULFIELD and his date of birth as March 12, 1929, at New York, New York. He graduated from Rice High School in New York in 1947, and attended Wake Forest College during the 1947-48 and 1948-49 school years. He took general college courses and had an overall grade average of .5649, which PATTERSON advised was approximately a "D-" under the grading system used at that time. His file revealed copies of his transcript had been sent to Columbia University on November 12, 1952, and to the Veterans Administration in New York on June 15, 1954.

On April 15, 1969, MARK REECE, Dean of Men, Wake Forest University, advised his files contained nothing derogatory concerning the applicant and did not contain an address for applicant while attending Wake Forest College. REECE reviewed the 1948 Wake Forest College Year Book and located a photograph of CAULFIELD and advised he, REECE, had been a junior in 1948 and remembered the applicant who was listed as a senior that year. He said he remembered him very vaguely but remembered nothing derogatory concerning him.

Gray, Caulfield Await Prosecutors

Two holdovers from the Watergate cover-up investigation, former White House aide John J. Caulfield, and former acting FBI director L. Patrick Gray III, are in the process of dealing with the Watergate special prosecutor's office over possible criminal charges.

In Caulfield's case, according to informed sources, formal plea-bargaining is in the works and some sort of charge in the cover-up is the issue.

Gray, who was not indicted in the cover-up, is waiting to see whether the prosecutors feel that he committed perjury during his unsuccessful confirmation hearings in February and March of 1973. Sources said there is no plea bargaining involved in Gray's case.

CAULFIELD, 45, worked his way from a job as a New York City police officer to a security guard in the 1968 Nixon campaign, then a White House aide and undercover political operative, and finally assistant director for criminal enforcement of the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

During his stay at the White House, he became friendly with James W. McCord Jr., whom he originally recruited in late 1971 for the job of security coordinator for the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Caulfield testified last summer before the special Senate Watergate committee that in December 1972, shortly before the Watergate trial of McCord and six others was to begin, he received a letter from McCord warning against any White House effort to blame the CIA for the Watergate bugging operation.

JOHN CAULFIELD

Caulfield said he passed the letter on to John W. Dean III, then counsel to the President. Early the next month, Caulfield said, he was contacted in California by Dean, and asked to give McCord a message.

The Senate testimony of McCord and Caulfield is in basic agreement on what happened next. First through an intermediary, and then by himself, Caulfield urged McCord to plead guilty in the case, in return for which he would be granted executive clemency in about a year, his family would be provided for, and he would be given a job when he got out of jail.

All seven original Watergate defendants accepted what the prosecutors have concluded was "hush money," and five of them pleaded guilty in the early days of the trial.

Caulfield, who also testified before the Watergate grand jury and admitted his role there, was not among the seven men indicted in the alleged cover-up conspiracy.

While the exact bargaining position of the two sides could not be determined, sources indicated that Caulfield is hoping to be allowed to be offered a misdemeanor charge as a result of his cooperation with the prosecution.

Gray, who was named acting director of the FBI after the death in 1972 of J. Edgar Hoover, admitted during the Senate hearings and before the grand jury that on June 28, 1972, he was given documents from the desk of Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr.

Gray testified that Dean and former Presidential Assistant John D. Ehrlichman told him the documents were "political dynamite" and he understood them to say that they wanted the documents destroyed. He said he actually destroyed them around Christmastime of 1972.

IT APPEARED that, while leading the FBI, he had destroyed evidence in the Watergate case and might be indicted in the cover-up. But the prosecutors apparently were convinced that Gray did not know what the documents were, and that while indeed politically sensitive they did not comprise evidence in the case itself. He was not indicted.

However, a question arose in the meantime over whether he had committed perjury while testifying at Senate hearings on his nomination to become permanent FBI director.

Gray was asked during those hearings whether he had any knowledge of the FBI having wiretapped a number of reporters and White House aides, and he said he did not.

The New York Times later reported, however, and well-placed sources have since confirmed, that an internal FBI memorandum popped up saying Gray had indeed been informed of the wiretaps prior to his confirmation hearings.

John Caulfield advised Supervisor Robert H. Haynes on a confidential basis that the White House has been proposing him for the position of Director, Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division (ATFD), Internal Revenue Service (IRS), replacing Harold Serr who recently retired. This is a Civil Service Commission position and not a Presidential appointment, and consequently IRS has been fighting to fill the position with a career employee of IRS. According to Caulfield, the White House has given him strong support, and there is a likelihood that he will receive the appointment.

Caulfield is a member of the New York City Police Department on leave of absence to serve on the White House Staff. He is concerned primarily with protection, law enforcement, and relations with police agencies and associations. He is a strong supporter of the Director and the FBI.

Caulfield stated he feels a great deal of improvement can be made in the enforcement aspects of ATFD. The head of the Enforcement Branch is Thomas F. Casey, who has been on extended sick leave and will probably retire. Caulfield stated that he feels the Division itself is oriented primarily toward revenue collection, and he feels it should move more strongly in the enforcement area, particularly regarding firearms and explosives. He intends to propose that ATFD be taken out of IRS and made an independent division in Treasury Department reporting to Assistant Secretary for Enforcement and Operations,

Caulfield stated that if the position should materialize for him, he would consider it an honor to have an opportunity to call on the Director and thereafter meet with Bureau officials dealing with matters relating to the enforcement aspects of ATFD. No specific request was made at this time.

The Agent asked him if he was acquainted with former Senator Smathers and told him that Smathers was being investigated for a high political office. The Agent asked if he knew Senator Smathers and [redacted] informed him that Smathers was very capable, reputable, etc. The Agent also asked him if he had been contacted by "Newsday" re the former Senator but did not indicate why he made this inquiry or upon what it was based.

Greene stated that approximately 4 weeks ago Mr. Tom Renner, a reporter for "Newsday", was contacted at his home on Long Island by Senior Resident Agent Arthur Fuss of the Garden City Resident Agency of the FBI who asked him if he knew what the "Greene Team" was doing and if he knew when it was going to publish its story. Fuss allegedly told Renner that he was being pressured from Washington to get the answers to these questions.

T. E. Bishop to Mr. Mohr Memo
RE: "NEWSDAY" NEWSPAPER

Greene stated that approximately 5 days ago, [redacted] of "Newsday", called SA Fuss on another matter and Fuss asked him the same questions that he has asked Renner, again stating that he was being pressured from Washington to get the answers to these questions.

Greene advised that he has great admiration for the FBI and feels sure that there is a logical reason as to why the inquiries were made to [redacted] as to whether he had been contacted by "Newsday", as well as the inquiries made by SA Fuss of Tom. Renner and [redacted]. He stated, however, that if the FBI is unable to advise him of the reason for these inquiries, the paper feels that it would be a logical assumption to make that these inquiries are being made by the FBI in order to find out the status of the paper's investigation into President Nixon and his associates and to somehow put pressure on the paper concerning the investigation. He advised that he would like to be contacted on Monday, 9/20/71, and furnished whatever the Bureau can give him in the way of an answer at that time.

Assistant Director Malone in the New York Office and SAC Whittaker of the Miami Office have been instructed to immediately contact, respectively, SA Fuss and the Agent who contacted [redacted] to determine the reason for their inquiries with respect to "Newsday" newspaper. They have been instructed to submit teletypes setting forth the information obtained.

RECOMMENDATION:

The Director will be advised of the reasons of these inquiries as soon as received and a recommendation will then be submitted as to what, if any, comment should be given to "Newsday."

ADDENDUM CRIME RECORDS DIVISION, 9/18/71, DWB:eib

Enclosed is a teletype from the New York Office concerning the "Newsday" newspaper inquiry. This shows that SA Fuss has admitted contacts with reporters Renner and [redacted] of "Newsday" concerning the date on which the Greene report was to be published. He denied having indicated he was being pressured from Washington. He stated SA Pat Henry of the New York Office had requested him to make discreet inquiry to determine the publication date of the Greene report and that he had been told to furnish the information to SA Frank O'Brien if received while SA Henry was on leave.

SA Henry, contacted at his home in Pennsylvania where he is on annual leave, admitted making the request of SA Fuss. He said he heard of the Greene investigation from a reporter on the "New York Times" and felt it would be of interest to the Bureau. He said he may have indicated to SA Fuss that the information would be of interest to the White House but did not say the request came from anyone at the White House.

SA O'Brien stated he was told by SA Henry that he should furnish any information received from SA Fuss to Jack Caulfield at the White House since Caulfield had made the original request. O'Brien said he had received no information from SA Fuss on this matter. Caulfield is a former New York City detective now working at the White House.

Affidavits are being secured from SAs Fuss, Henry and O'Brien for submission to the Bureau along with recommendations for any administrative action.

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of above, it is recommended Greene be advised we have no comment.

Bishop's memorandum 9/17/71 (attached) disclosed inquiries made by Agents in New York regarding the publication date of an article being written by "Newsday" concerning the financial affairs of the President, former Senator Smathers, and Bebe Rebozo. This is to advise you of contents of affidavits submitted by the Agents and to recommend administrative action against Agents involved.

Special Agent (SA) Francis P. Henry, New York, learned of the "Newsday" investigation from a reporter on the "New York Times." About a week later, and coincidentally, Henry met Jack Caulfield, Administrative Assistant at the White House, who is a former New York City detective and long-time personal friend of SA Henry. Henry mentioned to Caulfield that "Newsday" was preparing an article on Smathers and Rebozo. Caulfield did not comment regarding possible contents of the article and Henry got the impression he might already be aware of it. Caulfield did not ask Henry to conduct any inquiries but did indicate an interest in the publication date of the "Newsday" article if it came to Henry's attention. Henry denies any other contact with Caulfield regarding the matter.

SA Henry called Senior Resident Agent Arthur E. Fuss at the Garden City Resident Agency on Long Island and asked Fuss to check through reliable sources at "Newsday" for information about the forthcoming article. Fuss was under the impression that this was an official inquiry, the results of which would be furnished the Bureau. He called Tom Renner, a "Newsday" writer who had been reliable in the past, to find out the publication date. Renner agreed to furnish the date if he learned it, but Fuss has had no subsequent contact with him. Fuss later received a call from "Newsday" reporter [redacted] on another matter. [redacted] referred to Fuss' previous conversation with Renner and asked if Fuss were getting "pressure" on the inquiry and Fuss replied he was not. [redacted] indicated he did not know the publication date of the "Newsday" story.

SA Henry had asked Fuss to furnish any information he might receive. SA Francis J. O'Brien, New York, since Henry was going on leave. SA O'Brien said he returned from leave on 8/31/71 and found a note in his mail from SA Henry.

Memo for Mr. Tolson

regarding this matter indicating that SA Fuss had been asked to determine the publication date and instructing O'Brien to notify the Bureau if any pertinent information were received in Henry's absence. Henry also indicated to O'Brien that Caulfield at the White House would be interested in knowing the publication date if that became known to the Agents. (O'Brien has also been a friend of Caulfield for a number of years.) O'Brien never made any inquiry or received any information from Fuss.

We have received affidavits of SAs Fuss and O'Brien from New York and we have the contents of SA Henry's affidavit by telephone. New York, in forwarding the affidavits, has recommended censure, probation and transfer for SA Henry, and letters of censure for SAs O'Brien and Fuss.

The inquiry made by a Miami Agent of a Florida businessman regarding Senator Smathers was part of a special inquiry we were making for the White House, during which we became aware that "Newsday" was investigating Smathers. The Miami part of this inquiry was legitimate and was part of an official investigation subsequently reported by the Bureau to the White House on 8/5/71.

OBSERVATIONS:

SA Henry upon learning of this matter, should have made it a matter of record in order that officials of the New York Office could determine whether it should have been furnished to the Bureau for possible dissemination to the White House and so that the Bureau would be aware of it and could direct any inquiry which might be appropriate. He should not have instructed SA Fuss to make inquiry of persons at "Newsday," and he should not have reported it to Caulfield without the knowledge of his superiors.

SA Fuss acted on what he thought was a legitimate request from SA Henry and he was aware that Henry has handled press liaison in the past. The contact at "Newsday" from whom he attempted to obtain the information was not reliable, as Fuss believed, and made Fuss' inquiry known to others at the paper.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. The Director's notation on Bishop's memorandum instructed that I be sent to New York and Philadelphia to nail this down. Since we have now received affidavits from the Agents involved and have all the facts at hand, it appears that no useful purpose would now be served by my making this trip and the Director may wish to cancel it.

JOHN CAULFIELD

Les Whitten called my office this morning and advised that Jack Caulfield, formerly assigned to the White House on President Nixon's staff, has testified that FBI Agent Pat Henry (Francis P. Henry), New York Office, made an inquiry for Caulfield at "Newsday," the Nassau County, New York, newspaper, concerning an article it was printing on Bebe Rebozo. He stated that SA Henry made an inquiry of a source on Newsday's staff concerning this article per the request of Caulfield.

Whitten requested a response to two questions:

- 1) Did the Bureau authorize SA Henry to investigate "Newsday" concerning an article regarding Rebozo? and 2) If not, has SA Henry been disciplined for his activities in this connection?

BACKGROUND:

Bufiles indicate SA Francis P. Henry, in 1971, initiated an inquiry as to the publication of an article concerning Bebe Rebozo by "Newsday" newspaper. "Newsday" brought the matter to the Bureau's attention and it resulted in administrative action against SA Henry for initiating an inquiry of a most sensitive nature without Bureau authority.

J. J. McDermott to Mr. Jenkins Memo
RE: INQUIRY FROM LES WHITTEN

In order to determine if the information attributed to Caulfield was "public source," SAs [] and [] WFO, contacted Assistant Special Prosecutor [] of the Special Prosecutor's Office. It was determined from him that Caulfield never testified before a session of the Senator Ervin Watergate Committee or a Grand Jury concerning SA Henry or the inquiry at "Newsday" on Caulfield's behalf. [] stated to his knowledge Caulfield's comments concerning SA Henry had not been made known to the public. Upon a review of Caulfield's interview by the Special Prosecutor's Office, it was determined that it took Assistant Special Prosecutor [] and an associate several hours of questioning before Caulfield would even admit that SA Pat Henry was the Agent through whom he attempted to learn of information relative to an article being prepared by "Newsday." b6 b7C

OBSERVATIONS:

Since the information obtained from Caulfield by the Special Prosecutor's Office was apparently closely held by Caulfield and was not known to be the subject of any public testimony given by Caulfield, and inasmuch as we specifically asked Whitten the source of his information, at the time of responding to his inquiry, and he stated it was not a public source, this gives rise to the possibility of a leak in the Special Prosecutor's Office.

RESPONSE TO WHITTEN'S INQUIRY:

Les Whitten was advised the FBI never authorized anyone to make inquiries at "Newsday" as to an article concerning Bebe Rebozo. He was advised the Bureau would not comment concerning SA Pat Henry. Les Whitten stated he wanted to know if any disciplinary action had been taken against SA Henry by the Bureau and considered our refusal to comment concerning him to be in conflict with Director Kelley's open press policy.

The all-inclusive response that the FBI never authorized anyone to make inquiries at "Newsday" concerning an article on Bebe Rebozo was furnished to Les Whitten to preclude his indicating that the Bureau approved the inquiry requested by Caulfield. No response was furnished to Whitten's inquiry concerning SA Henry since to do so could place the Bureau in the position of confirming information Whitten received from a possible "leak" source and, in addition, would be publicizing internal administrative action taken by the Bureau regarding SA Henry.

J. J. McDermott to Mr. Jenkins Memo
RE: INQUIRY FROM LES WHITTEN

RECOMMENDATION:

That this memorandum be referred to the General Investigative Division which might wish to consider the advisability of alerting the Special Prosecutor's Office regarding the possibility of a leak in this matter.

Nixon Probed and Courted Meany

Even as President Nixon was courting political support from George Meany, the White House "dirty tricks" crew was conducting a back-door probe to see whether the crusty, then 77-year-old AFL-CIO boss would survive a serious chest hernia.

As part of the snooping, according to "dirty tricks" chief Jack Caulfield, the White House used a management consultant posing as a doctor to try to squeeze medical data out of Meany's personal physician.

Meany's doctor denies he furnished medical information. The consultant agrees, saying, he told Caulfield he obtained the information from two labor officials. But Caulfield nevertheless fobbed the "medical" reports off on President Nixon as coming straight from Meany's doctor.

According to Caulfield, the clandestine operation on Meany was ordered by former White House counsel John W. Dean III, probably at the direction of ex-Nixon aides H. R. (Bob) Haldeman or John D. Ehrlichman.

In a room locked to the public and the press Caulfield told the Senate Watergate committee of the Meany caper and previously undisclosed details of his other White House chores.

These, he reluctantly confessed, involved presidential nephew Donald Nixon, former Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, the Ford Foundation, the newsmen who revealed the My Lai slaughter, the Nixon campaign's chief of Jewish affairs, Newsday and many others.

To carry out his probes, the "dirty tricks" impressario got the willing help of a New York FBI agent; the White House resident Jesuit, Father John McLaughlin, who recently defended the President's foul language, and presidential secretary Rose Mary Woods, to name a few.

The once ruddy Caulfield, who has been weakened by serious abdominal surgery, turned out to be a slippery witness, the classified transcript of his testimony reveals.

"Do you know for a fact that the President was interested in getting some discreet information on the condition of George Meany" in 1971, Caulfield was asked by committee lawyer Terry Lenzner.

"Apparently a memorandum went from Dean to the President," said Caulfield, a former New York City detective. "There was intense interest, I do recall . . . on the part of many people at the White House. (Meany) had a (chest) attack . . . The thrust of the inquiry was how serious . . ."

When Lenzner pressed him on how he got his information, Caulfield weaved and dodged.

"I received it from a friend of mine," he said.

"Who was that?" demanded Lenzner.

"Mr. James Juliana," Caulfield finally acknowledged, naming a Washington manager who had investigated the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.).

"Do you know how he got it?" persisted Lenzner.

"I think he got it from a physician friend of his."

"Your memorandum indicates that Dr. Marvin Fuchs, who was George Meany's personal physician, was talked to on a very discreet basis by another physician."

"Yes," said Caulfield.

"Was that Mr. Juliana?"

"Yes," swore Caulfield.

Both Fuchs and Juliana deny this as a baseless whopper. Juliana told us he was advised the attack was serious by two friends in the labor movement. He gave Caulfield a full report of his talk, he said, adding that the President should visit Meany in the hospital or send flowers. Within a few days, sure enough, not flowers, but cigars reached Meany from the White House.

In another case Caulfield probed the Long Island paper Newsday which was preparing an expose of presidential crony C. G. (Bebe) Rebozo.

"The forthcoming Newsday article was a matter of constant conversation around the White House," recalled Caulfield. One day, he said, "I bumped into (Rebozo) in the hall of the White House." Rebozo was "concerned." But Caulfield assured Rebozo he was already on the case.

As Caulfield recounted under oath, he and FBI agent Pat Henry were drinking in New York when Henry said, "there is an article coming out on Mr. Rebozo . . . Would you be interested if there's any information?" and I said, "I sure would."

Although Caulfield first tried to withhold Henry's name from the record, he finally admitted that Henry passed on information about Newsday. "Mr. Henry, as I recall, had friends at the newspaper (and) spoke to those friends about the publication date of the article," Caulfield testified.

The White House gumshoes dutifully relayed this information to Dean.

Caulfield said he also believed that Newsday reporters in Florida who worked on the Rebozo story were under Secret Service surveillance. The Secret Service and FBI deny they ever authorized any probe of Newsday.

Even some White House friends drew suspicion from the President's inner circle, Caulfield testified. Dean once ordered a probe of Mr. Nixon's chief campaign aide on Jewish affairs, Lawrence Goldberg.

Caulfield was worried about "a potential question of loyalty" to the campaign on the part of Goldberg. Caulfield suggested the issue had been raised to him by Father McLaughlin. The staffer-priest refused to return our repeated calls.

Footnote: A spokesman for Meany said the tireless old labor warrior had "absolutely no idea" he was being probed. Caulfield could not be reached.
